Customer Satisfaction

Your own understanding of the nature of customer satisfaction will be far more accurate if every one of your employees remains moved in the Dark Ages. Every employee should be made aware of the importance of fixing the customer's problem. If you've been in business for a while, you've already seen your share of cases where the customer's problem was resolved, but the customer was still unhappy. The most common cause of this potentially fatal mistake is employees (or owners) who have allowed themselves to become isolated from the customer's concerns. It's up to you to make certain that all of your employees understand that the ultimate goal of your combined efforts is a satisfied customer, not just a sale.

8 Don't overlook your employees as a source of ideas to improve your operation.

No one is closer to your customers and their opinions than your own employees. Acknowledgment and respect for their contributions by their bosses is essential to their being ignored.

Your customer experience with your store begins the exact moment that one of your employees answers the phone. Make sure that your telephone is always answered and respect the customer's time. Never allow it to ring more than three or four times. Have a customer on hold for more than a minute or two and you are sure to lose the customer. And always, ALWAYS, call the customer back when you have promised to do so. Even if you haven't been able to find all the information you need, don't leave the customer to wait for a call that never comes.
